

In case you didn't know, a VPN will connect your computer to a remote server and encrypt all the data going back and forth. It's a great way to make sure that people can't snoop on your internet activity, or see what you're doing on the Internet. These days it's become commonplace for many commercial businesses – including banks – to use VPNs too. ExpressVPN is one of today's most popular VPN services with an easy-to-use client app for mobile devices, PCs, and even routers with built-in WiFi (although setting up the router might not be as simple). In addition to a free version, ExpressVPN offers subscribers a 30-day money back guarantee and a 24-hour live chat support service. The software is easy to use and comes with a handy KillMe function – although clearly not as complete as the paid versions. ExpressVPN offers three subscriptions. These include the Premium package for $12.95 per month billed annually or $8.32 per month billed monthly, which includes all of the features from the 'total' plans, plus Premium Speed, an extra Trace IPv4 leak protection from our competitor IPVanish VPN provider and 5 days worth of dedicated customer support by phone or email every month. The VIP plan costs $59.00 per month billed annually or $41.32 per month billed monthly, has all the features of the Premium plan, plus extra IP address space, dedicated multipliers for P2P traffic, and 24/7 live chat support. The Ultimate package costs $99.00 per month billed annually or $69.00 per month billed monthly, includes all the features of the VIP plan, plus extra IP address space, dedicated multipliers for P2P traffic, and 24/7 live chat support. IPVanish is one of the most popular VPN services on the market with an easy-to-use client app for mobile devices, PCs, Macs and even routers. While they do offer a 7-day money back guarantee you will be charged in advance if you use it. The software is easy to use and comes with a handy KillMe function (although clearly not as complete as the paid versions) to help ensure your privacy when using public WiFi hotspots or other free WiFi networks like those found in hotels and cafes. IPVanish offers three subscriptions. The lowest cost plan is their Basic package for $4.49 per month billed monthly, which includes all of the features from the 'total' plans, plus Mobile VPN on up to 5 devices and Unlimited P2P traffic from anywhere in the world. The VIP plan costs $9.99 a month billed annually or $7.49 a month billed monthly, has all the features of the Basic package, plus extra IP address space, dedicated multipliers for P2P traffic, and 24/7 live chat support. The Ultimate package costs $11.99 a month billed annually or $9.
